be no question about the temple of God being made what it ought to be in the world. Sin and Satan, ignorance and superstition, have made many breaches in this temple, and they need repairing. Faithful workmen are needed to do the work, and faithful givers are needed to provide the means.

for the educational work of our Church in this Synod.

The complete plan and program of the city team of the Assembly's Committee of Christian Education was first submitted to the Executive Committee of the Synod and heartily approved. The plans and dates were then submitted to the pastors and ministers of the city of Richmond and the plans and schedule fully adopted. The next step was the dinner meeting of Presbyterian pastors, ministers, elders, deacons and Sunday school superintendents and their wives held at the Blues' Armory. This was said to be the largest meeting of Presbyterian ministers and church officers ever held in the city of Richmond. Rev. Joseph G. Venable, D. D., pastor of First Presbyterian church, Norfolk, delivered a wonderfully inspiring address on the subject of Christian Education. Rev. S. W. McGill presented the plan of organization of the city campaign and explained the part to be taken by the women, the church officers and the pastors of the churches, all of which plans were heartily approved. He said that there are no hard and fast rules for campaign in the interest of Christian Education, but that there are principles that have worked successfully elsewhere and would work anywhere if faithfully followed. The Richmond schedule is as follows:

Sunday, April 9th, will be Christian Education Sunday.

The pulpits of all Richmond Presbyterian churches will be occupied morning and evening by visiting preachers. Among the speakers already secured are Rev. Albert Sydney Johnston, D. D., Charlotte, N. C.; Dr. Henry H. Sweets, Louisville, Ky.; Dr. M. E. Melvin, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Rev. William Megginson, Lynchburg, Va.; Dr. Walter L. Lingle, Assembly Training School; Dr. W. T. Thompson, Union Theological Seminary; Dr. J. D. Eggleston, Hampden-Sidney, Va.; Rev. S. W. McGill, Nashville, Tenn.; S. P. Hollinrake, Gainesville, Fla.; Paul F. Harris, Louisville, Ky., and others.

Thursday, April 13th—Opening workers' dinner to receive final instructions regarding the work of the campaign.

Friday, April 14th—First workers' luncheon and reports.

Sunday, April 16th—Presbyterian parley union mass meeting.

Monday, April 17th—Second report luncheon.

Tuesday, April 18th—Third report luncheon.

Wednesday, April 19th—Fourth report luncheon.

Thursday, April 20th—Fifth report luncheon.

Friday, April 21st—Sixth report luncheon.

Sunday, April 23d—Emergency Sunday in all churches.

Monday, April 24th—Closing Victory dinner.

The whole movement is in charge of a committee of Richmond pastors and laymen who will see to it that Richmond responds fully in every respect.

THE STORY OF THE AMERICAN HYMN

By EDWARD S. NINDE

Those who have cultivated that fine spirit of reverence and worship which reveals the possible richness of man's inner life will appreciate this book. The scholarly care and chaste diction will appeal to the love of the aesthetic, and its spiritual inspiration will appeal to the religious nature.—Boston Evening Transcript.
